On the Challenge of hitting 11:00am precisely

The Rectory
St James the Least of All

My dear Nephew Darren,

It is a great shame that your church doesn't have chandeliers – although in your low-ceilinged converted cinema, any chandelier more than a few feet tall would also be embedded in your floor carpeting. But I find that there is nothing like watching the standard bearers on Remembrance Sunday parading up the aisle with their flags and getting them caught up in our brass candelabra.

One year, the procession ground to a halt while a bearer fought to retrieve his flag, and was obliged to leave it flying in the centre of the church while he presented me with an empty pole. I always feel obliged to tell parishioners that, since all the candelabra will inevitably be sent spinning, not to stare at them, or they may leave the church hypnotised. On the other hand, Miss Simpson generally leaves the church looking like that. Major Hastings always arrives bejewelled with so many medals that every time he kneels for prayer, it sounds as if he is taking the collection. Their weight increases his stoop by at least ten degrees, to the point where some feel we should support him with a personal flying buttress.

Since the trumpeter playing the Last Post can be of varying quality, your idea of broadcasting it from London into your church is inspired. However, your worries about whether your radio will be good enough need not trouble you. If you tell your congregation that they are about to hear the broadcast silence and you then simply not switch the thing on, no one will be able to tell the slightest difference whether the silence is being broadcast or not. In fact, they will even congratulate you on hitting 11am at exactly the right moment.

I always use subterfuge; I have the church clock disconnected and then when we reach the time for silence, irrespective of the true time, I get a churchwarden to toll the bell eleven times. This way, I have apparently come to the exact moment without a hitch for the last 30 years.

You will also find that preaching about warfare and of man's inhumanity to man will give you greater insights into the working of your church council. The only difference is that on committees – sadly – the use of machine guns is rather frowned on.

Your loving uncle,

Eustace

JESUS HAD MANY FRIENDS

BUT SOME WERE EXTRA SPECIAL. THESE WERE HIS 'DISCIPLES'.

JESUS ONCE ASKED A TAX-COLLECTOR CALLED 'MATTHEW' TO BE ONE OF HIS TEAM

MATTHEW AGREED TO FOLLOW JESUS

JESUS WENT TO HAVE A MEAL AT MATTHEW'S HOUSE

BUT MANY PEOPLE COMPLAINED ABOUT THIS. THEY THOUGHT MATTHEW WAS A BAD MAN - AND JESUS SHOULD IGNORE HIM.

JESUS' REPLY WAS VERY STRAIGHT FORWARD.

HE EXPLAINED THAT MATTHEW NEEDED HELP, NOT CRITICISM,

A Plea to the Community of All Saints Church

A warm welcome awaits you whenever you wish to visit our beautiful Grade 1 listed 12th Century Church. Here at All Saints Church Aston we have Services every Sunday and during the week for those people who wish to extend their faith, or cannot make our Sunday Services.

We welcome the residents of our Community. Many of our children visit and play under supervision at our various organised groups. Many of these groups and services are highlighted in this Monthly Parish Magazine.

Our church is run by the Parochial Church Council of All Saints Aston, which comprises elected members of the Congregation, Clergy and Licensed Lay members. The PCC meets every month to discuss our finances and how our money should be spent to benefit and improve our church.

These meetings cover matters from the day to day running of our church, to the safety of every person who enters our church, and the ongoing repairs and maintenance needed to ensure our church is fit for purpose.

We receive many wonderful testaments from visitors who visit our church; from those who have been to a Service, a Wedding, a Baptism, a Funeral or just decided to look around our Church when in the area or staying at Aston Hall Hotel.

Like many other organizations, our Church continues to have challenges to maintain the fabric of the building and the requirements for our Church and Community's future.

We are grateful to members of our congregation and friends who donate to assist in all that we try to do in the development and the continuing pathway work of our Church. These donations are made by a monthly bank direct debit, a weekly envelope scheme or by cash in the collection tray. All monies are used to help in the running of our church.

We hope you too would like to consider becoming part of the continuation of our work and the future of our Church by donating whatever you feel you can afford. Being a charity, if you are a tax payer each £1.00 donation you give attracts 25p from the government, which as you can understand is of great help to us.

If you would like further information on how you can help by making a monthly bank direct debit donation, by weekly envelope contribution, or a one off donation to our church we would be very grateful for you to contact our Gift Aid Secretary or our Admin Assistant.

About 700AD the people of Aston embraced Christianity and built a church: probably of wattle and wood. After the Norman Conquest in 1066 the Norman Lord erected a Hall and rebuilt the Church in Stone.

YOU ARE MY MEMORIAL – MY LEGACY

(Some thoughts on remembering)

Remember me –
As the poppies fall on the shoulders, heads, and at the feet
Of young and old
All gathered for the Festival.

Remember me –
In the music played,
In the clapping of the audience keeping time<
And uniforms so proudly worn.

Remember me –
In the stories told,
Most from the distant past, but others new,
Each one rehearsing memories stored

Remember me –
And if a tear should chance to flow
Then let it flow for the world in pain,
And dedicate yourself to peace

Remember me –
And let the sun, moon, stars, shine bright
To bring my love to you like the light
That shines in the darkness all around.

13th November - The Poppies of Remembrance Sunday

We will remember them

In late 1914, WW1 erupted across Northern France and Flanders. Great swathes of previously green fields and forests were blasted and bombed, leaving them bleak and barren, with seemingly every living thing destroyed.

But then in the Spring of 1915, something beautiful began to come out of all the destruction. Tens of thousands of bright red Flanders poppies began to put out tentative shoots across the endless vistas of mud. These resilient little flowers had actually flourished in the middle of so much chaos and destruction, because their seeds grow when exposed to sunlight, through disturbances to soil.

We all know that these endless fields of cheerful poppies, growing in the midst of such misery and destruction, were what inspired the Canadian doctor, Lieutenant Colonel John McCrae, to write the now famous poem 'In Flanders Fields'.

And it was McCrae's poem which inspired an American academic named Moina Michael to adopt the poppy in memory of those who had fallen in the war. She got it adopted as an official symbol of Remembrance across the United States, and worked with others who were trying to do the same in Canada, Australia, and the UK.

A French woman, Anna Guérin who was in the UK in 1921, caught the same vision, and planned to sell the poppies in London. There she met Earl Haig, the founder of the Royal British Legion, who was persuaded to adopt the poppy as its emblem in the UK.

The Royal British Legion, which had been formed in 1921, ordered nine million poppies and sold them on 11 November that year. Ever since then, the red poppy has been a symbol of Remembrance, of support for the Armed Forces community, and also of hope for a peaceful future.

22nd November - St Cecilia Patron Saint of Musicians

If you are going to any concerts before Christmas, spare a thought for St Cecilia (2nd century) – the patron saint of musicians.

Cecilia is one of the most famous of the Roman martyrs of the 2nd century. As far as is known, she was born a noble lady of Rome who, despite her vow of virginity, was forced to marry an older pagan nobleman named Valerian. During the wedding, as the musicians played, Cecilia sat apart singing to God in her heart, and for that she was later declared the saint of musicians

When the time came for her marriage to be consummated, Cecilia told Valerian that watching over her was an angel of the Lord, who would punish him if he sexually violated her but would love him if he respected her virginity.

Understandably startled by this, Valerian then asked to see the angel for himself. Cecilia replied that to do so, he must go to the third milestone on the Via Appia and be baptised by the Bishop of Rome. Valerian seems to have been a good-natured husband, because the story goes that he followed her suggestion, was baptised a Christian, and sure enough, saw the angel protecting his wife.

Being a Christian in those days was dangerous, and when the next wave of Roman persecutions began, Valerian and Cecilia were among those arrested. It is said that they died at the hands of the Roman prefect Turcius Almachius, perhaps in Sicily sometime between 176 and 180 AD.

One story goes that Cecilia was struck on the neck with a sword, and as she lay dying, asked that her house be converted into a church. Certainly an early Roman Christian church, Santa Cecilia, was founded in the fourth century in the Trastevere section of Rome, reputedly on the site of the house in which she lived.

In the centuries since then, a number of musical compositions have been dedicated to her, and her feast day has become the occasion for many concerts and musical festivals.

St Cecilia is frequently depicted playing a viola, a small organ, or other musical instrument.

Rationing

Our family mementoes include a light blue wartime ID card and a buff-coloured ration-book dated 1954 - when wartime rationing of certain foodstuffs finally ended. My grandad worked as a green-grocer and was famously strict on rationing. He hated 'spivs' who subverted the rules. Grandma worked at the Ministry of Food helping to administer local rationing. Pictures of wartime and the early post war period rarely show anyone who looks overweight and indicate long queues for food deliveries.

In 1939 the UK was importing up to three quarters of its cheese, cereals, fats and sugar and the majority of its fruit. Lessons were however learned from World War I, namely that it was vital to ensure everyone had a certain amount of food, otherwise shortages favoured the rich due to higher prices. During World War I (1914-1918) Germany tried to cut off food supplies through submarine warfare. Wheat stocks fell to just six weeks and rationing of sugar, butter, tea, jam, bacon, and other meat was eventually introduced, although bread was kept off ration.

It was rightly assumed that German U Boats, and aircraft, would go back to work after war broke out in 1939. The Battle of the Atlantic raged from 1939 to 1945 although the allies gradually gained the upper hand. Nevertheless, for example between June and October 1940 over 270 Allied ships were sunk. To buy most items on ration, every adult and child had to register at their chosen supplier – with a local butcher, milkman and grocer. They would take their ration book along and food coupons were cancelled as food was purchased at controlled prices.

Even items that were not rationed gradually became scarce or unaffordable despite a huge drive to grow food domestically called 'Dig for Victory'. Everyone had a ration book, including the Royal Family. Fuel, soap, paper and many other items were also rationed. Most food, except vegetables and bread were being rationed by summer 1942. Bread was only rationed after the war when the 'national loaf' replaced white bread. It was often an unpleasant grey wholemeal mush of a loaf by all accounts.

Beer supply was considered vital for morale and was not rationed... but as wheat was prioritised over barley it was not always available in quantity. Clothes rationing became ever stricter. A new coat might cost you a whole year's ration! It is unsurprising that a 'make do and mend' attitude remained a feature in many of our childhoods. Such an approach appears alien to most people under 60. By April 1945 weekly rations were only: Bacon 4oz (113g), Sugar 8oz, Tea 2oz, meat 1s and 6d worth (very little!), Cheese 2oz, Jam 1lb per month, Butter 2oz, Margarine 4oz, Lard 2oz and sweets 12oz (340g) per month. Imagine trying to survive on this with some vegetables. It was no fun at all except for children's teeth. Ingenuity was vital. Maybe it is time to get an allotment and become more self-sufficient again?

HOPE IN THE DARKNESS

Say not the struggle naught availeth,
The labour and the wounds are vain,
The enemy faints not, nor faileth,
And as things have been so they remain...

If hopes were dupes, fears may be liars;
It may be in yon smoke concealed,
Your comrades chase e'en now the fliers,
And, but for you, possess the field.

And not by eastern windows only,
When daylight comes, comes in the light;
In front the sun climbs slow, how slowly!
But westward, look, the land is bright!

KING EDWARD III and QUEEN PHILIPPA - Reigned 1327-1377

On either side of Aston church porch entrance are carved the heads of a king and queen. The porch and the chancel were added to the church by William Melton, who owned the Aston Estate, and was Archbishop of York and Treasurer and Chancellor of England. We believe the two heads to be King Edward III and his wife Queen Philippa. Edward was the son of King Edward II and Isabella of France and was born at Windsor in 1312. Philippa was born in 1314, the daughter of William III, Count of Hainault and Jeanne of Valois, the granddaughter of Philip III of France.

Edward became king in 1327 and was married to Philippa in York Minster, about 1328, by Archbishop William Melton. They had twelve children, seven sons and five daughters. Their surviving children were:

- * Edward - the Black Prince (1330-1376)
- * Isabella of England (1332-1379)
- * Joan of England (1335-1348) - died of the Black Death
- * Lionel of Antwerp - 1st Duke of Clarence (1338-1368)
- * John of Gaunt - 1st Duke of Lancaster (1340-1399)
- * Edmund of Langley - 1st Duke of York (1341-1402)
- * Mary Plantagenet (1344-1362)
- * Margaret Plantagenet (1346-1361)
- * Thomas of Woodstock - 1st Duke of Gloucester (1355-1397).

Although during most of Edward's reign, England was at war, at times with Scotland, with Wales and with France, at home he transformed English society. Feudalism began to disappear as trade became more important. Taxation of exports and commerce overtook land-based taxes as the primary form of financing government (and war). Merchants became wealthy and regularly attended parliamentary sessions. Parliament was divided into two houses, the upper representing the nobility and high clergy and the lower representing the middle classes. The office of Justice of the Peace was created to aid sheriffs and English replaced French as the national language.

Edward founded England's most famous order of chivalry, the Order of the Garter. Legend has it that while dancing with the King at a ball, a lady (thought to be the Countess of Shrewsbury) was embarrassed to have dropped her garter. The King chivalrously retrieved it for her and picking it up, he tied it around his own leg, gallantly saying "Honi soit qui mal y pense", evil to him who evil thinks). This became the motto of the order, a society of gartered knights based at St. George's Hall, Windsor Castle.

Philippa died in 1369 and Edward died of a stroke in 1377. They are buried in Westminster Abbey. He was succeeded by his young grandson, King Richard II of England, son of the Black Prince.
